My grandmother prepares it every year, so we are used to spending many hours in the kitchen together.

At the beginning, I wasn't comfortable with the strong smell of herbs, but I got used to it after several years.

I got used to helping with cutting the fruits as well, because it is an important part of the process.

We also prepare guaguas de pan, which are colorful and symbolic.

My cousins come to help too, and we always have music and jokes while working.

This tradition helps us connect as a family, and I hope future generations learn it as well."
